Our Vision

LIFE IN ITS FULLNESS – is what Jesus Christ lived and died for. NCCP envisions this life in a just, egalitarian, self-reliant, and sustainable society.

Our Mission

Our faith and vision move us to be deeply involved in the struggle of the people to be a channel of united witness and common action, and to be in solidarity with those who dream and work for a better life.

Our Work

Ecumenical Education and Nurture

- ❖ Is involved in teaching and cultivating future leaders of ecumenism as concretized in:
 - Basic Ecumenical Course: A 6-week training module for youth and laypersons
 - Vacation Church School: Formation of children centered on themes such as peace, unity, and cooperation

- Summer Internship Program: A 6-week immersion program for seminarians that they may experience the life of our marginalized brothers and sisters

- ❖ Gives special focus to women, children and youth for they are the ones most vulnerable to abuse

Christian Unity and Ecumenical Relations actively initiates and participates in establishing relations with people of other faiths by working together on common issues like poverty, militarization, health care and education

- ❖ Ministers to indigenous peoples by taking their perspective and bringing their issues and concerns to the Church, and by supporting indigenous peoples' initiatives on literacy and numeracy programs and fact-finding missions.

- ❖ Establishes links with government agencies to cooperatively work towards shared goals

Faith, Witness and Service

- ❖ Initiates development education activities for awareness building, and skills training towards strengthening constituencies and networks among the clergy, laity and the wider public for peace and development
- ❖ Engages in advocacy work on current and emerging issues that affect human rights and dignity, justice, peace and environment

- ❖ Coordinates ecumenical direct services to victims of natural and/or human-made calamities and human rights violations through relief and rehabilitation assistance or solidarity support
